HOW DO I DEAL WITH MY AGING PARENTS

1. In general, "to honor" means "to hold in high regard."
2. When our parents are aged, to "honor" means to support them financially.
3. The Scriptures teach that honoring our parents in their later years is a primary command and responsibility.
 - A. Supporting your parents comes ahead of commitments to the Lord's work.
 - B. Supporting our parents reveals, more than anything else, our own genuine godliness.

There are three specific actions that will enable us to follow through on this command:

- Agree with your spouse that taking care of your parents will come ahead of any other expenditure.
- Tell your parents of your commitment.
- Increase your current giving to the Lord to a level where hundreds of dollars each month could be transferred to your parents without changing your family's economics or lifestyle.
